INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESS GIVEN BY AMBASSADOR BRYCE ON UNIVERSITIES OF NEW WORLD

British Diplomat Makes Interesting Statements Regarding System of Instruction at Oxford and Cambridge

ADVISES COLLEGE MEN TO ENTER PUBLIC LIFE

Great Imperialist Recommends Reciprocity in Students Between Universities of the Empire

The Rt. Hon. James Bryce yesterday afternoon spoke to what was one of the largest and most enthusiastic audiences ever seen in the Union. This, the closing meeting of the Canadian Club, was in every way a most complete success. The speaker was one of unusual prominence and distinction; the address was of peculiar interest, and revealed a mind with a wealth of thought behind it, while the audience was the largest in the club's history, a conservative estimate being eight hundred.

As the time of the meeting approached it was closely seen that a large number would be present, but not even the most sanguine would have predicted that the Hall would be insufficient. Every seat was occupied, the gallery was filled, the doors were crowded, and men stood four or five deep all around the back. The audience was representative of every faculty, and included many from the staff. The Royal Victoria College had an unusually large representation.

Principal Peterson introduced Mr. Bryce, who was greeted with a wave of applause which took several minutes to subside.

The British Ambassador's first words were words of surprise at the size of his audience. "I imagined," he said, "that I would only have to address some twenty-five or thirty students interested in politics. I have just addressed two Canadian Clubs, one in Ottawa and one in Montreal, and consequently my mind being like a reservoir, has run dry. It is, however, a great pleasure for me to be able to address you today as I am very much interested in universities. All my life I have been closely connected with universities. I studied in three, and was a professor for twenty-one years in one and four years in another. I have received honorary degrees from several different universities, including McGill. So it is that I take especial pleasure in speaking to the undergraduates at McGill."

After declaring that it was the young men of today, and especially the educated young men who are at colleges at present, who will work out the destinies of Canada in the future, Mr. Bryce went on to enumerate the different works which the University youth can render to the world. But before technical science must come theoretical science, hence the value of years of labor with such

TUBERCULAR CURE DEMONSTRATED BY DR. FRIEDMANN BEFORE LARGE MCGILL AUDIENCE

Famous German Doctor held Unique Clinic in Royal Edward Institute Yesterday

SEVERAL INJECTIONS ON CHRONIC CASES MADE

Daily Secures Exclusive Story on Interesting Demonstration of Revolutionary Cure

Yesterday McGill had the honor of being visited by two very eminently distinguished gentlemen. One, an intellectual leader of two continents, and well known for a quarter of a century, came in the person of the Hon. James Bryce. The other, a scientist known the world over. But his reputation has been established in a most spectacular manner, and in an exceedingly short period. This was the famous German physician, Dr. Frederick Friedmann.

Early in the morning in company with Prof. Dr. Adami, the distinguished doctor visited the entire medical school and called upon Dean Shepherd.

Immediately after inspecting the building, Dr. Friedmann retired to the Bacteriological Laboratories where for several hours he was busy preparing the Bacilli to be used in his demonstration.

During the early part of the Doctor's visit to the College, he was closely watched by newspaper men, but stoutly refused to be interviewed. The reporters were informed by Dr. Adami that there might be an opportunity for an interview at the Royal Edward Institute. The "boys" took this for a tip, and "silently stole away."

The time for the Clinic had been announced for eleven o'clock, but that hour had come and gone before the distinguished gentlemen drove up with Dr. Adami to the Institute.

Col. Burland, President of the hospital, received the doctor at the entrance and conducted him to the clinical theatre, where there were awaiting some sixty members of the Medical staff, hospital officials and the final year in Medicine, who through the forethought of Mr. H. C. Dixon, President of the Medical Society, were able to attend the demonstration.

Immediately Dr. Friedmann set about to sterilize the hypodermic needles, which are used to inject the tuberculin fluid.

In the meantime Dr. Adami, who acted as interpreter, explained to the audience the mode of treatment and normal results.

"This is not a serum, but a vaccine. After the first injection there is a beneficial re-action which takes place within a few days. After a lapse of from two to five weeks, another injection is made. If another treatment is attempted before two weeks Dr. Friedmann has found that it is almost sure to result fatally. It is on account of this danger that the Doctor has not revealed the secret of his discovery. It is expected that a scheme will be announced very shortly whereby the treatment will be continued under experienced operators appointed by the Govern-

Editorials

We have recently been presented with a copy of the statement of receipts and disbursements of the Students Council for the period extending from July 1, 1912 to February 28th 1913. The statement in question, contains also an estimate of accounts receivable and accounts payable outstanding, and by this means an estimate of the probable deficit is arrived at.

The report is therefore merely a guess, for the accounts payable outstanding are listed separately, while the accounts receivable as far as we can make out consists of the balance from the Universal Fee. We also feel inclined to regard the list of accounts payable outstanding with a certain dubiousness as we notice that no estimate for salaries during the months of March, April, May and June has been included.

The account states that the apparent deficiency of revenue is $547.95. This we understand is the estimate provided the university pays for the addition to the stands on the campus and for the upkeep of the grounds.

In view of last year's fiasco we may be forgiven if we take the above mentioned statement "cum grano salis." We sincerely hope that the ultimate deficit will in reality be as small as it is estimated in the accounts which will be presented to the students at next Wednesday's meeting and to which we make reference here. They say figures cannot lie; let us hope that the report given out by the Council last March will be the only exception tending to prove the rule in the case of our finances.

While we are on the subject of accounts we would also like to mention the fact that we have received the revenue and expenditure accounts of the McGill Daily up to February 28th. This also carries with it but little information regarding the probable outcome of the paper's financial year as the accounts payable and receivable have not been estimated therein.

References were made in these columns yesterday to the debt now hanging over the Student's Council and suggestions were made as to the different ways in which this might be met. These were briefly as follows:—Firstly, that a direct tax be levied on each undergraduate either by a deduction from the caution money or by direct payment; or secondly, that the students society be incorporated in order that money might be borrowed with which to pay the debt; this loan to be paid up gradually as is being done now at Queens.

However, another suggestion has been made which owing to lack of space, could not be treated editorially yesterday. This suggestion is that the graduates of the University be asked to pay the deficit and to form an advisory board which will assist the Student's Council in its deliberations. Virtually this proposition means that in return for the payment of some thousands of dollars the graduates would be given a voice in the conduct of undergraduate affairs.

This scheme although it is probably the easiest way out of the difficulty, provided the graduates are willing to part with the necessary money, has certain undesirable features. In the first place we undergraduates have accumulated the debt, we have enjoyed any advantages derived from the spending of the money; therefore we, not the graduates, should be called upon to pay the debt. In the second place the introduction of a graduate advisory board into the government of undergraduate activities, would, to a certain extent, lessen student autonomy, which, in its present incomplete state was only won after a long and bitter controversy. Thus the adoption of this suggestion would entail a somewhat reactionary movement on the part of the Students Society, and it is doubtful whether this disadvantage would be counterbalanced by the obtaining of a large sum of money in such an easy manner.

As pointed out yesterday this and other matters in connection with the undergraduate activities will be fully discussed at the annual meeting; and we would recommend that every student give them his serious consideration in order that he may be able to arrive at some definite decision when the time arrives.

FINAL BILLIARD GAME GAVE THIRD PLACE TO STONE

Play Off for Third Place was Most Exciting

The final game of the billiard tournament was played last night when Stone beat Morris in the competition for third place. The score was 250 to 248, and the game was one of the closest played in this tournament.

The score was very close throughout the entire game. At the end when Stone's score was 249 and Morris' 242, Morris made a break of four and left Stone set up for a cannon on which he won the game.

Kansas—No wonder that Coach Hamilton says that track athletics is not supported at Kansas when a hundred candidates are out at Missouri and a scant thirty come out here.

Harvard—Since the ice in the river below the bridge floated away about a week sooner than it did last year, three university crews were able to get the week's extra training.

Harvard—At the University Forum the question of combining two or three of the college publications, was recently discussed. The advisability of this plan was especially noted from the financial standpoint.

INVOLUNTARY INJUSTICE DONE MR. KEMBALL KEEPING

Name was Left Out by Mistake in Account of Candidates for President of Sci. Undergrad.

It has been brought to the notice of the Daily that in an article on page four of yesterday's issue, headed, "The Science elections will take place to-morrow," the name of Mr. Keeping was left out. As Mr. Keeping is one of the candidates for the presidency of the Undergraduate Society of Applied Science, this naturally was a regrettable thing. It was purely accidental as the article was written to read "particularly on account of the three cornered struggle for the presidency. Keeping, Hall and MacFarlane have many of the requisite qualifications for a position on the Council." When the account was printed, Mr. Keeping's name was left out.

The Daily regrets that this incident occurred, as Mr. Keeping's abilities are fully realized by the members of the staff and to give publicity to the other contestants at the expense of Mr. Keeping was the thing last desired when the article was penned.

We hope that this incident will not in anyway affect his chances of success in today's election, and the Daily regrets exceedingly that it ever occurred.

Illinois—A club house for the University golf club will be erected this coming spring. It is hoped that about $1,200 will be forthcoming for the purpose.

FRESHMEN PRESIDENT KIDNAPPED BY WILY SOPHOMORES WHO BAFFLE VERDANT PURSUERS

Unfortunate Officer Closely Guarded While Classmates
Revel at Lively Burlesque Show

SQUAD OF POLICE AT THEATRE PRESERVE ORDER

The theatre party given by the Freshmen at the Gaiety Theatre last night was very successful, and there were only two draw backs. First, that the President of Science '16 had been carried off by the Sophomores in the afternoon, and was not able to be present. The second draw back was that there was a considerable number of the second year present, position they occupied in the balcony boxes, attracted most of the attention.

The fun began in the afternoon about half past three, when a really sensational scene took place in the Engineering Building. Eric Reddy, the President of Science '16, came down the stairs to keep an appointment with H. J. Daubney. As Reddy was talking to Daubney, three more Sophomores suddenly arrived on the scene and grabbing hold of the Freshman President, hustled him into a waiting sleigh. He was driven to the Burnside Apartments and imprisoned in one of the Second Year Science men's room. Nobody saw this affair carried out except the men taking part, and as absolute secrecy had been kept by the Sophs the fresh men had no idea up till the time they met at Strathcona Hall that their leader was not with them.

A couple of men were at once commissioned to find out where he was. The Freshmen nothing daunted started out on their parade to the theatre. Nothing exciting happened on the march down, and the paraders reached the theatre without any mishap.

At the Gaiety a surprise was in store for the gay first year men—for, lo, and behold, in the four balcony boxes, which were suitably hung with red and white bunting, were about forty Sophomores. No attempts were made by the Freshmen to oust the second year men from their superior position or to retaliate upon them for kidnapping Reddy. About one hundred and thirty freshmen were present and they practically filled up the orchestra chairs.

The McGill yell and the class yells were given in splendid fashion, both '15 and '16 using their lungs to good purpose. During an interval the yell of '12 was heard and when the giver of this yell was located it was discovered that he was none other than the man who has done so much to make our Rooters' Club a success; and who had evidently come down to watch the fun.

In the meantime where was Reddy, as there was no sign of him at the theatre.

The gentleman in question was in one of the Burnside Apartments playing cards with his captors. Suddenly the phone rings and as a result of the message he is hustled down the stairs into a cab and taken to another room. During the latter part of the show several Freshmen were seen to leave in a hurry. This aroused the suspicions of the Sophomores who immediately guessed that Reddy's hiding place had been discovered. The second year men then telephoned and had Reddy removed to a house on Hutchison St. The Freshmen who had left the theatre to get Reddy, as the Sophs rightly guessed, had received news from the two men they had sent to find him, that they had discovered him. However, when the first year men reached the Burnside the prisoner had been removed. They managed to trace him by means of the cabman and at last found the Science '16 President locked in a house on Hutchison St. The door had to be broken in before Reddy could be liberated. No Sophomores were with Reddy as his captors had locked him in, and then departed, having learnt that they were being pursued.

The main body of the Freshmen adjourned to the Parisian after the theatre and the last reports stated that they seemed to be enjoying themselves.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The annual meeting of the Historical Society will be held in the Engineering Bldg. on Thursday evening. The officers will be elected for the coming year, and several important amendments will be proposed. Applications for membership should be sent at once to the Secretary.

Tonight the entries close for the Pool Tournament, and "Scheeziks" says all entry fees must be paid in to him by that time.

The list of handicaps will be posted later or in the week and there is no doubt but that this contest will be a very interesting and close-fought one.

OFFICIAL INSPECTION OF CORPS SOON TO TAKE PLACE

Members of Permanent Staff will Inspect C.O.T.C. Next Week

The inspection of the Officers Training Corps which will take place two weeks from today is going to be quite an important affair. It is not definitely known who will inspect the Corps, but it is probable that some one from the permanent staff at Ottawa will be sent down. At any rate a great deal of the future success of the Corps will depend on the way in which the inspection is carried off.

The two inspections which took place in January were both merely complimentary. The one which is to take place on the 26th, however, is the annual one, which decides the progress made during the year. It is difficult to overestimate the importance of this first official inspection that the Corps has had. It is therefore hoped that everyone will make a special effort to be present at the two intervening drills, so that the Corps can get into shape. The number of those who are present on that day is taken as the official numerical strength of the Corps.

FRANTIC FUSSEY MADE SUBJECT OF A LAUGHABLE LARK

Perpetration of Playful Prank
now Published

A short time ago an ardent fusser of the Sophomore year was doing his noblest to get into his glad rags in preparation for an evening's tete-a-tete with the idol of his youthful dreams, when some of his classmates making out that they were quite sympathetic with his nervous efforts at making himself presentable, managed successfully to convert the back of his coat into a sign board.

The noble youth bravely started down the street, all unconscious of the sensation he was creating. However, such a state of affairs could not long exist. Suddenly discovering that he was the source of the excessive merriment of the passersby, the unfortunate young man remembering the pranks of boyhood days, reached for the back of his coat and discovered that an attempt had been made to make his mission known to the public. The sign bore the significant inscription: "I am going fussing to-night."

It is reported on good authority that the advertisement has now become a souvenir and has changed hands.

ment. The injections are of two types: intravenous and intermuscular—which are made in the joints.

The distinguished visitor treated seven patients, some of whom were afflicted with glandular and others with pulmonary tuberculosis. One case which particularly interested the Doctor was a young German lady who had been treated by some of the most eminent men in Germany, including the Great Koch, but had never been completely cured.

The treatment itself was extremely simple—a little fussing with a hypodermic and brown bottle, a little dab of iodine, a little jab, a squirm

FINAL APPEARANCE OF MCGILL'S UNDERGRAD ORCHESTRA

Disciples of Orpheus Wind up Season this Evening

The Undergraduate Orchestra Concert takes place tonight in the Royal Victoria College. This will be the last of a series of brilliant concerts. Early in the year the Students' Orchestra made a new departure when a Sacred Concert was held in the Union on a Sunday afternoon. Music was also furnished between acts at the recent Senior Play. The concert held at Macdonald College last Saturday also proved a huge success.

The Orchestra has been very successful in securing the services of Miss Beatrice Fraser, contralto, whose singing has always met with much appreciation. Judging from the way in which her solos were encored at Macdonald College, Miss Fraser will appeal very strongly to those who may be privileged to hear her tonight.

The McGill Mandolin Club will render two selections. Though numerically not as large as last year, the quality of the playing is by no means behind that attained in the past. It is hoped that, since this is practically the last college function this season, a very large number of students will avail themselves of this opportunity of enjoying a musical evening. A thoroughly enjoyable programme is assured. Tickets are on sale at fifty cents at the Union.

—'Gethan! Next.'

Dr. Freidmann is a tall, slim, dapper little chap. A dark, short-clipped moustache marks his upper lip; his eyes are very penetrating and his whole face bears a thoughtful expression. His hands are truly those of a skilled surgeon, long, slender and delicate. In action the little German was very quick, but worked without the least nervousness.

After the demonstration which was the first attempted by Dr. Freidmann in Canada, a picture of the Meds., visiting physician and the celebrated doctor, was taken on the hospital steps.

ARTS UNDERGRAD BODY WILL ELECT PRESIDENT TO-MORROW

Speculation is Rife Over the Result

The elections for the Presidency of the Arts Undergraduate Society will be held tomorrow. Considerable interest has been aroused over the contest for office as three very good men have been nominated, all of whom have numerous supporters. A very close ballot is expected to be cast and the result is most problematical.

Mr. E. H. Scott, the first man nominated has caused considerable discussion to take place about the election, as he came out with the statement that he was in favor of the Arts men, being allowed to have a wet dinner. Mr. Scott has since explained himself more definitely, and it seems that the principle upon which he bases his ideas is that the individual student ought to be allowed to choose whether he was going to drink at the Dinner or not.

Mr. Ben. McDiarmid is another strong candidate and has held several offices while at the University, always being active in student affairs. Mr. McDiarmid takes a great interest in the McGill Y.M.C.A., and is both treasurer and a director of that body.

Mr. N. Johnson, another candidate perhaps has had more experience in executive positions than the other two men who are running for the presidency. Mr. Johnson is business manager of the '14 Annual, and secretary of the Mandolin Club. He has also always taken a great interest in the Y.M.C.A., and has attended the Northfield Conference.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

Statistics taken in the Senior class at Yale show that there are 178 smokers and 114 non-smokers. Out of a total of 258 155 men claimed to be total abstainers, while 128 confessed that they drank liquor. Further statistics are that thirteen of the men are engaged.

Woman on Debating Team.

University of Colorado—Verily, verily! In these days of woman's suffrage and man's sufferings what shall we next witness? Winston Churchill's wife may lead the suffering-cats to the milk of the British Premier, Carrie A. Nation may commit outrages in saloons with an axe, Jane Addams may second the nomination of a Bull Moose candidate for president, Emma Goldman may dynamite the whole foundation of modern society; all these acts of terrorism may be performed with impunity, but never, never, since Cain went out and nodded to an unnamed woman in a formerly unmentioned country has anything happened that is so alarmingly modern, and so fraught with countless complications as the selection of a woman to take a place on the debate between Oklahoma and Colorado.

Kansas—The Ashcroft bill providing for a $175 fee for all out-of-state students in state educational institutions has been laid on the table.

It is certain the bill will have hard sledding in the senate since a number of senators think it unwise legislation.

These men point out that it would be a narrow and provincial policy in that Kansas has 1250 students in universities of surrounding states, and that it would put the state in a bad light to raise a barrier to bar the 300 outside students who attend Kansas institutions.

Kansas—The University of Kansas has had $20,000 taken off its appropriation for 1913-15, this was in addition to the $666,000 that the senate committee saw fit to withdraw some time ago.

Cornell—In the east the University won the basketball championship taking seven games out of eight. The Easterners wanted to play a series of games with the Badgers for the championship of the country, but the athletic director at Wisconsin would not consent. That leaves another championship unsettled.

Kansas—The team of Hawaiians which plays in Lawrence on the 17th and 18th of April is said to be the best foreign bunch of baseball players ever gathered together.

The basketball team didn't surprise any one when they came home with black eyes and battered faces.

C. B. Johnson and Fraser Sullivan both members of Cornell's victorious junior varsity eight last spring, have been obliged to leave college. Johnson had a particularly bright chance of making a seat in the varsity shell.

INTERNECINE WARFARE PREDICTED BETWEEN YEARS IN ARTS

Recent Class Rivalry Shows Signs of Life Even Among Seniors

The quiet halls of Arts Building are in danger of witnessing a scene of strife and warfare. The evils of class rivalry and dispute are eminent and precautionary measures should be adopted by the authorities.

The fact that the threatened warfare is between the third and fourth years instead of the first and second years makes the situation a most unusual one. Never before in the recollection of any living undergraduate has such a state of affairs existed.

The trouble has arisen over the date on which certain examinations are to be held. In one of the honor classes, the two senior years take their lectures together. As soon as the professor suggested arranging a date of examination, it was evident that trouble might be looked for.

So violent a discussion arose that it had to be adjourned until the lecture was over. When the instructor had left a very fiery meeting was held but no decision was revealed.

The Juniors are decidedly in the majority, but the Seniors claim that their arguments have behind them a more mature reasoning power. Open threats of more convincing arguments were heard, if the Seniors persist in holding out for a date which the Juniors find inconvenient. The fact that a very prominent and influential Senior has decided to throw his lot in with the third year men, makes their position much stronger.

Further developments are awaited with interest.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Paynter, the Cubs' recruit, is receiving many jibes because of his name. They say that in two years he should develop into a white disher. Eddie Spencer, better known as Hack, who caught for several major league teams, has signed with the San Francisco team of the Pacific Coast League. Joe Berger, on whom Chance refused to waiver recently, is cutting a wide swath in the White Sox camp in California. His strongest point seems to be the ability to throw quickly from awkward positions.

Frank Chance gives his men a stiff workout for about three hours every morning and then lets them off for the day. He thinks twice a day is too much for training and makes the players unfit for work when the season begins.

Hans Holmer has been heard from. The professional marathoner is making more than good on the other side of the water. He has a number of scheduled races on his program. The latter part of this month the New York boy participates in a cross country race in Paris, distance about eleven miles.

Then he goes to Berlin to start in a fifteen-mile affair.

The opening of the German stadium where the 1916 Olympic games will be held, will take place next June. When the stadium is completed it will have been erected at a cost of about $500,000. The German athletic authorities hope to have it rank as the finest type of athletic structure in the world.

Marie, sister of Hans and Willie Kolehmainen, is surprising the athletic sharps of Finland with her great running. According to Brother Bill, Sister Marie raced 100 meters, about 9 yards more than 100 yards, recently, in the fine time of 14 2-5 seconds.

Frankie Burns is going to get into line for the bantamweight championship of the world sooner than he expected. He is matched to meet Eddie Campi at Los Angeles at the end of this month. After Campi, Burns hopes to meet Kid Williams, then Johnny Coulon.

INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESS GIVEN

subjects as mathematics, chemistry, etc. There lies in Canada a great opportunity for this application of science, probably a far greater opportunity than we realize.

As regards the universities he urged that they continue to cultivate a closer connection with the English universities. There were two advantages which the older universities of Oxford and Cambridge had over the universities of Scotland and Canada.

Firstly, the college system has unrivalled opportunities for friendship.

The Keenest Edges Ever Made

Poets have sung and historians told of the razor-edged blades of Damascus steel with which men used to carve each other. Those were wonderful products of the steel-worker's art—for the time and generation. But modern Science knows where those men guessed, and its keenest products,

GILLETTE Safety Razor Blades

carry edges uniformly sharper and harder than the best the old steel-workers turned out. Every piece of steel from which Gillette blades are made has to come up to a carefully-worked-out chemical analysis, so searching that any defect is quickly detected. Then each razor-blade is hardened through and through by electricity, at a temperature regulated to a fraction of a degree, giving an even, perfectly hardened metal that hand-forging and rule-of-thumb methods could never equal.

At your Druggist's, Jeweler's or Hardware Dealer's, buy a Gillette—you'll enjoy its lasting keenness. Standard Sets $5.00—Pocket Editions $4.00 to $4.50—Combination Sets $6.00 to $7.00.

The other advantage was in the individual care given to each student. The tutorial system has many points of superiority over the large class system. What McGill should try and attain is a combination of the two.

Mr. Bryce said that he had long been wishing someone would do over again Cecil Rhodes' wonderful scholarship scheme. His idea had been to make Oxford a link to bind the Anglo-Saxon peoples of the world. No Rhodes scholars have distinguished themselves as have the Canadians. The idea, however, should be turned the other way also, so that English students could come to Canada to complete their education. Lastly, he hoped that many college men would go in for public life. While it was true that there was a great fascination in business. Public life should not be considered as a means of gaining a livelihood. The only recompense to the man in public life is the honor of his position. On concluding, Mr. Bryce was applauded to the echo. He was most heartily thanked on behalf of the Club, on motion of Mr. John McNaughton, seconded by Mr. McCrimmon. The meeting broke up with the McGill yell and three rousing cheers for Mr. Bryce.
